

REVOLUTION IN DRY GOODS! GRAND FORMAL OPENING!

JOHN WREN'S NEW MARKET ST. DRY GOODS STORE, 27 AND 29 S. MARKET ST.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1887.

The Handsomest Dry Goods Store in the City, to which the People of Springfield and Vicinity are Cordially invited. Entire and Absolutely New Stock in Every Department.

I respectfully call the attention of my friends and the public in general to my grand opening of new Fall and Winter Dry Goods, which I just purchased in the East, and which you will find to be not only cheap, but the best values so far heard of in this city. Everything in the store new and attractive, and my prices for first-class goods will be the lowest. No baits thrown out to attract your attention, and advance the prices on some other articles of greater value, of which you may not be good judges. My motto will be square and honorable dealing, no bulldozing. When you come to my store you are not compelled to buy, and any goods purchased of me, should some not prove satisfactory after getting them home, said purchasers will be allowed the privilege of exchanging for any other goods in the store for same amount. Prompt and polite attention shown to all customers whether they purchase or not. I will open and continue my new store with following prices:

Silk and Dress Goods Department.

Black Silks at 49c, 75c, 98c, $1.25, $1.35, $1.39 and $1.49.

Paper Train Delayed:
Bee Line train No. 12, due here at 10 a. m., was delayed an hour and a half this morning at Maude's, a station twenty miles this side of Cincinnati. A pony engine had been detailed, thus blocking the main track.

Messrs. W. H. Hamilton & Co., the Main street hardware dealers, are advertising their business for sale and will move to San Diego, Cal.

Dress Well.
"Costly thy habit as the purse can buy, But not expressed in fancy; rich, not gaudy. For the apparel oft proclaims the man."

Nature has not been so lavish in her gifts that we can afford to despise them, and any assistance that we can render, in the way of making our personal appearance as attractive as possible, should be cheerfully given.

As our friend Shakespeare says, a man should dress as well as his means will justify, and there is no surer means of attaining this, and thus by examining the select, new, fall shipments of the justly celebrated Clay Wardrobe for dress purposes; the elegant line of overcoats, gray, black and blue. Elysian, Ratines and Montagues now offered to the public by Jason W. Phillips, No. 39 West Main street.

These goods are the newest, dressiest and most genteel patterns that money can buy, and to the purchaser a stylish, well-made, perfectly-fitting garment is assured.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Mr. F. P. Sluper, of Pine Bluff, Ark., is in the city.

Mr. A. E. Myers, of Dayton, was in the city last evening.

Mrs. J. C. McMillen, of Xenia, is attending the W. C. T. U. convention.

Mrs. Daniel Smith, of Dayton, was the guest of J. E. Smith and family, yesterday.

Dear ladies: Don't you think that in point of hospitality W. C. T. U. about right?

Mrs. Francis Preston and daughter leave this evening for their home in Detroit, Mich.

Miss Viola Fox has opened a private Kindergarten at her home on south Mechanic street.

John G. Gano, a prominent farmer and stock raiser, of Greene county, is in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gantz, of Harrisburg, Ohio, are the guests of City Clerk Shewalter and family.

Miss Geiger, who has been visiting friends in Urbana, has returned to Springfield—Urbana Citizen.

Up to today 4,368 interments have been made in Ferncliff cemetery. It is a veritable "city of the dead."

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Olds, of south Plain street, left this morning for Chicago and points in the northwest.

Mr. Warren Carter went to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon to purchase additional machinery for his laundry.

Mr. William A. Dowling, of New York City, is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. J. H. Dalie, of 74 West Spring street.

Mrs. Mary E. Bacon, of Garrettsburg, Ky., is in the city, visiting her niece, Mrs. John W. Osborn, of west Grand avenue.

Lawrence Heiskill, esp., of Lincoln, Nebraska, sends the REPUBLIC a handsome pamphlet, entitled "Lincoln Illustrated."

Mrs. Aurelia Sellers, of London, Ohio, and a delegate to the W. C. T. U. convention, is the guest of her nephew, Mr. John W. Osborn, of the Republic office.

Rev. W. A. Robinson, of Cleveland, formerly pastor of the Central M. E. church, this city, passed through town today on his way to Lebanon, to visit his father.

Mr. Elias Chapman, of Sacramento City, Cal., is in the city, visiting his daughter and many friends. He leaves for home tonight.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Maude Rupert to Mr. Theo. J. Herbert on Wednesday evening, October 12th, at the residence of her parents, south of the city.

Rev. C. B. Ludwig, formerly a Wittenburg student, returned last evening from a prolonged and pleasant trip about the lakes, much improved in health, and looking in splendid form. His eyes are still troubling him a good deal, however.

Mrs. Virginia S. Patterson, of Bellefontaine, is attending the W. C. T. U. convention. Mrs. Patterson was formerly a contributor to the REPUBLIC under the nom de plume of "Garry Glavin," and is the author of that very readable book, "The Girl of the Period."

LADIES IN CONVENTION.

Interesting Exercises of the Ohio Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Reading of Scriptures by Miss Emma Goodwell, of Canton, singing, and a prayer by Mrs. Small, of Cleveland, composed the opening exercises, and Mrs. Antoinette Cleveland, of Wilmington, corresponding secretary and editor of the Messenger, was called upon to represent the state work.

Closing her edifying remarks she said: "As the golden grain is harvested and the fruits gathered in, we, too, gather in our harvest of souls."

We were triumphant in our efforts to drive the saloons from neighbors of the fair grounds. She paid a glowing tribute to all the state superintendents, and especially Mrs. Henrietta L. Monroe, for her self-sacrificing labors and able superintendency.

Mrs. Monroe called attention to a quilt donated by the Winchester Union, to be sold in shares of ten cents each, the quilt to be given finally to Mother Stewart.

Mrs. Drury, department of labor and capital, made her report. This is the youngest of the departments and suffers in its work for the want of suitable literature.

The speaker thought, with many employees questioned, that the best thing that could be conferred on the laborer was prohibition. She closed with an appeal for a deeper interest to be manifested in this line of work.

Mrs. H. C. McCabe, of Delaware, gave a very interesting paper on the history of the crusade. Those whose fingers are on the public pulse she said could discern any quickening of it. Such a quickening preceded the crusade.

Mrs. Henrietta Way, of Waynesville, reported her department of that unfortunated woman for common service, showing an awakened interest among the churches.

Mrs. M. C. Widman, sister of Esther Pugh, spoke most encouragingly of work among railroad men.

Mrs. J. D. Walter, of Marietta, department of prison work, gave an interesting account of the gratifying success in her department, which was supplemented by additional remarks in way of illustration by Mrs. Small. A special praise service was held to close the session.

The evening was given to a "Y" service, the report of which, unfortunately, is crowded out, but those who attended are witnesses of the able manner with which the young ladies acquitted themselves.

MORNING SESSION, THURSDAY.
A half hour was devoted to prayer, and praise, under the leadership of Mrs. Trego, preceding the 9 o'clock hour for regular sessions.

Mrs. McCabe spoke in behalf of a crusade memorial window to be put in a church at Delaware, where so many have found refuge from the State convicts, the expense to be sustained by special contributions by the local unions.

Miss Esther Pugh reported for the department of Sabbath observance. She had written an article for the Christian Statesman, the organ of the National Reform association, and she had given it to the State convicts, the expense to be sustained by special contributions by the local unions.

Mrs. Antoinette Cleveland reported her department of dress missions. More work had been done during the year than for four years previously. Thousands of bouquets had been made and distributed.

Mrs. Esther Pugh, Mrs. H. E. Moon and Mrs. I. H. Amos were appointed a committee on the nomination of delegates to the national convention, to be held in Nashville, Tenn., November 16.

Mrs. Maria Goodell Frost, of Oberlin, department of franchise, presented a well-prepared discussion of the woman's suffrage question, abounding in exacting points.

Rev. Mr. Kyle, of Springfield, and Rev. Mr. Canfield were introduced and made a made a few happy remarks. Mrs. Dr. Kurt reported her work in the department of hereditary, an interesting paper.

Mrs. Mary E. B. Dicks of Xenia made a specially interesting report of her department, showing that much had been done through the power of the press.

Mrs. Mary D. Chapman, friendly luncheon, and Mrs. H. Blackburn, peace department, made excellent reports.

Prayer was offered and the session adjourned with the benediction, pronounced by Rev. James P. Mills.

The Rev. S. W. Strowger, for many years teacher in the late Rev. Mr. Riffin's school, east Main street, and now a clergyman of the Episcopal church at Cape Vincent, is in this city visiting his many friends. He will remain over Sunday next and hold service in Christ church.

Mr. William Hall, Little Miami yard engineer, is the happy father of a beautiful little girl.

Hon. James Boyle of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, is in the city on business.

LAGONDA LACONICS.

Items of Interest from Springfield's Lively Little Suburb.

Miss Latham, of Washington C. H., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Hedrick.

Rev. Daniel Berger and wife, of Dayton, are here, visiting Mrs. Wm. H. Berger, who is still growing weaker.

The new bar and knife shop is getting started and taking men on as fast as they can arrange for them.

Mr. Phillip Haer is improving and painting up his residence on the avenue. The workmen have the grade finished, and many of the property owners are cutting their sidewalks.

Just before the shops closed on Wednesday evening a carpenter named Frank Ellis, cut his thumb badly on a buzz saw. Dr. Nelson being absent, he took the street car for the city, in search of a physician.

D. P. Little and son, Charles, have bought out Mr. Roon, our colored blacksmith, and will take charge on Monday next. They expect to put up an addition to the old shop, for wood work, and will then do all kinds of blacksmithing and wagon-making, something our town needs.

Mrs. Wm. Warrington, of South Charleston, and Mrs. Rebecca Stratton, of Jay county, Indiana, were visiting friends here this week. The latter, Mrs. Stratton, is a relative of Mrs. J. C. Laybourn, the two being when young, schoolmates, and very intimate. Each married and left the old home and never met until this week, a period of over fifty years, when it can only be faintly imagined how much they had to talk about.
